Dear Lumberjacks,

This book was inspired by you. From pulling all-nighters to making the final touchdown and everything in between, you are the reason the university has evolved into a college of opportunity. It was my objective to capture the true side of student and faculty. Through face-to-face interview, Facebook and text messages, the SFA community answered what it meant to be a part of the Lumberjack experience. Between events, activities, sports, organizations and classes, student and faculty embraced the Lumberjack experience that is portrayed in the following pages of this book. May the experiences you have shared at SFA continue to guide you along your path. Axe Em' Jacks!

SGA WATERMELON BASH

Students receive a cool summer treat

The Watermelon Bash is sponsored every summer by the Student Government Association and held in the Fountain Plaza during the second summer session to unite staff and students. Although the event was rained out this year, it was quickly rescheduled for another day.

Everything from cutting melons to playing games for prizes takes place during the event. Students can compete in various games including the watermelon roll, seed-spitting and melon-eating contests to win prizes such as portable CD players.

The Bash, which gives students a chance to take a break from studying and have some fun, is one of the oldest SFA traditions. According to Courtney Harvey, SGA president, the event was originally intended as a way for faculty and staff to give back to students. "It was a means for faculty to thank students for working so hard during summer school," Harvey said.

The Bash is a great way for students to meet and interact with their deans, professors and the student government. "Somewhere along the way, SGA began to host the event," Harvey said, "but faculty and staff still make it out to serve watermelon to the students." SGA reports the turnout is always very good because students enjoy stopping by for a quick bite of watermelon and a free T-shirt. "The shirts were bright pink this year and featured Stephen F. Austin eating a watermelon. They were a big hit," Harvey said.

PURPLE HAZE

Students show SFA pride

Purple Haze Inc., a student led organization, united in 2001 to promote school spirit and Lumberjack pride at SFA athletic events. Today, most people know Purple Haze as the rowdy bunch of SFA students at every home football game, always sitting in the same section and wearing Purple Haze shirts. According to Zachary Hales, Purple Haze president, the organization is expanding its reach throughout the SFA community.

"Although Purple Haze is the most unorganized student organization at SFA, we have a lot of goals this year," Hayes said. "As an organization, we now attend volleyball and softball games and hope to attend soccer and bowling events soon." According to Hayes, members try to attend sporting events that don't already have a designated fan section, but sometimes, they join the other fans. "During basketball season, Purple Haze members join The Hecklers at basketball games," Hayes said. The Hecklers is an organized student group that attends SFA basketball games.

During 2008, Purple Haze was listed as part of the new Traditions Council at SFA. Though still independently run by students, the organization worked to get Purple Haze more public recognition. According to Hayes, Purple Haze Inc. helped initiate Spirit Fridays. "The Admissions office asked us to help support Spirit Fridays by wearing purple on Fridays to get ready for the weekend sporting events and encourage other students to do so as well," Hayes said.

Still, Purple Haze is famous for its mass of purple shirts in the Purple Haze section at football games and the unique cheers that the Purple Haze sections bring to football games.

SFA welcomes class of 2013

Freshman Convocation is held during the first week of every fall semester to welcome new SFA students and introduce them to a variety of the student organizations at the university.

The convocation for the Class of 2013 was held on Sept. 3 in the William R. Johnson Coliseum with help from the Nacogdoches County Chamber of Commerce. Students were officially welcomed to life at SFA by university administrators and then sent outside to the annual Back Lot Bash, which provides an opportunity for local businesses and university organizations to reach out to new students.

"Just as in years past, we had lots of food, prizes, goody bags and other giveaways to welcome the freshman class to our city and to introduce them to the various local businesses and organizations," Jonathan Elder, coordinator of student organizations and Greek life at SFA, said.

Religious, political and academic organizations were present at the Back Lot Bash to interact with new students and hand out giveaways and information about each organization. Also, representatives from the six colleges at SFA were available to share information about all the academic programs and departments the university has to offer. More than 150 organizations and businesses participated in this year's event.

LUMBERJACK ALLEY

The spirit before the game

Lumberjack Alley is organized by the Alumni Association and takes place the morning of every Lumberjack home game in the commuter parking lot by Homer Bryce Stadium. This tailgate event is open to the entire student body and community.

Jeremy Stolfa, the coordinator of operations for SFA athletics, helps organize Lumberjack Alley. "Lumberjack Alley is a tailgate area for the fans that enhances the SFA football atmosphere," Stolfa said.

Tipton Ford is the main sponsor of Lumberjack Alley, so much so that the formal name for the event is Lumberjack Alley Tipton Ford Tailgate, Stolfa said. Other vendors that supported Lumberjack Alley during the 2009 football season include the SFA Alumni Association, E Tech, Nacogdoches Medical Center, Sunshine Food Mart , Citizen's First Bank, Commercial Bank and Mr. Will's Restaurant.

Lumberjack Alley covers almost the entire parking area with people grilling, partying, eating and socializing. Music, barbecue and team spirit fill the air as everyone gets ready to cheer on the Lumberjacks. Anyone can get in on the action. Local Nacogdoches businesses set up and distribute free food and SFA football souvenirs. According to Stolfa, attendance has increased this year with the success of the Lumberjack football team.

When game time gets a little closer, the SFA cheerleaders and marching band make a visit to the tailgating festivities and perform a mini pep rally for the fans by playing the SFA fight song and other classics such as "Wabash Cannonball."

A REVIVAL OF MUSIC

Student holds event to show off local bands and artists

Nacstock, the annual East Texas-based indie concert to benefit the Make-A-Wish Foundation, was held Oct. 17 and 18 at East Texas Motorcycle Enthusiasts (ETME) Acres, about 14 miles outside Nacogdoches on Hwy 21. Paul Cumbie, a cinematography major at SFA, hosted the event for it's second year.

This year Nacstock featured 22 indie, rock and folk bands from Nacogdoches and surrounding areas. Groups preforming included The Otis Jones Project and Fish Police. Artwork by local artists was also on display.

The event was created a fun bohemian atmosphere as families and students picnicked outside and listened to the bands throughout the weekend. The sounds of the local bands were heard throughout at different stages located in the forest. Overnight campsites were available at EMTE as well.

HOMECOMING

Lumberjacks show their spirit

SFA's 81st Homecoming was celebrated on Oct. 23 and 24 with a variety of traditional events for students and alumni, including the annual parade and bonfire along with Lumberjack Football.

Throughout the week leading up to Homecoming, different organizations with candidates for the Homecoming Court spent time campaigning for student votes outside the Baker Pattillo Student Center. Students could also turn in another university's T-shirt in order to receive a free SFA Burn Shirt. Friday's events included the annual torchlight parade, where members of the student body, athletic organizations and the SFA Marching Band come together to follow the winner of the Cheer Competition down to the Intramural Fields, where the bonfire takes place every year. Shortly after the bonfire was lighted, a pep rally began and the winners of the Homecoming election were announced. Laterrious Starks, senior from Rowlett, and Zebine Bojler, senior from Stockholm, Sweden, were named Homecoming King and Queen.

Saturday morning, the streets of downtown Nacogdoches were filled with students and alumni who came out to see the annual Homecoming parade. "Big as Texas" the theme for this year's Homecoming, and it could be seen in the floats of many of the organizations participating. After the parade ended, most of the crowd floated over to the University, where tailgating was just beginning before the Homecoming football game. Many alumni and students came out to the football game and Lumberjack Alley beforehand to tailgate and watch the annual Duck Dash event hosted by the Alumni Association. This year's prizes included a $1,000 scholarship and various gift cards to popular restaurants around Nacogdoches, including Casa Tomas and KFC.

The annual Battle of the Pineywoods took place during Homecoming weekend this year, and the Lumberjacks defeated the Sam Houston Bearkats by a score of 42 to 3. This game also marked the first time in five years that SFA won against Sam Houston in the annual football rivalry.

SOMETHING FRESH

Hometown market offers fresh goods to local residents and students

The Nacogdoches Farmers' Market offers fresh produce, flowers, baked goods and homemade jewelry to the residents of Nacogdoches and surrounding areas.

The items sold at the market must be grown, processed or crafted by the vendor inside a 90-mile radius of the Farmers' Market. Just a few of the edible items sold include homemade blueberry cobbler along with organically grown carrots and beans, watermelon and fresh jams.

Vendor Eddie Sturgis sells fresh produce including watermelons, tomatoes and peas at the Farmers' Market. "The Nacogdoches Farmers' Market has been around for almost 50 years," Sturgis said. "I was told by my grandfather it used to be up on Main Street before it recently moved to the new location on Pearl Street."

The Farmers' Market offers fresh produce that is grown locally as opposed to vegetables shipped in from out of state. "All the vendors here provide local produce that is cheaper than the grocery store," Sturgis said. "A lot of the tomatoes at the store come out of California, and they sit in a warehouse for awhile before getting to the store. Ours are picked and then come straight to the market."

College students and Nacogdoches residents purchase fresh fruits and vegetables at the market that are healthy alternatives to other foods, according to Sturgis. Although the Farmers' Market is held year round, some of the vendors close up shop in the winter months because of the colder weather.

ALL ABOUT THE STUDENTS

SFA campus life

The SFA campus is constantly buzzing with student life activities, both planned and spontaneous. You can see it during the day, when students pick a favorite spot to camp out and study between classes or take a nap. It's at the Student Rec center, where students can relax and soak up the sun by the pool after a workout, rock climbing lesson, basketball tournement or sand volleyball game. It's everywhere, not just on the campus itself but within the people who call SFA their own.

"Campus life is driving down East College and feeling like you are a part of something bigger than yourself," said Amanda Hayes McCary, Nacogdoches senior.

Going to SFA, students meet friends that last a lifetime. Ryan Goicoechea, SFA alumnus, said, "A big part of campus life for me was meeting friends during my first semester at college that I would know for many years to come."

Campus life at SFA becomes energized through a variety of events on campus. The Singing Bee, karaoke on a weeknight, provided an opportunity for students to gather and take a break from classes. Movies on the weekends, the occasional drive-in movie, and cinema at the Ag Pond also allow students to relax after a full week of classes.

ROCKTOBER FESTIVAL

Students show their Halloween spirit

SAA's Rocktober Festival was held October 26, 2009 through October 30th. A series of events were held everyday to ensure that students had the opportunity to participate in the festival. In it's first year, the Rocktober Fest was received well by students and had a great turnout at all of the events.

The Poltergeist Drive-In Movie was the highlight of the events. SFA's theatre Department held auditions to determine which students would assist in acting during the Rocky Horror Picture Show.

Musical Artist Steve Means, whose sounds have been heard on the Real World, had a great turnout at Starbucks as well. Overall the Rocktober Fest attracted great crowds, and provided fun during the Halloween season.

MULTICULTURAL AFFAIRS

A view into the lives of different cultures

The mission of the Multicultural Center (MCC) is to support SFA in preparing graduates for success in a diverse and global community. The Center accomplishes this by providing many opportunities for minority and international students to become active, productive and collaborative within the university community. In addition, the Center strives to promote cultural awareness and respect for cultural diversity to the entire university community. One event the Multicultural Center helps coordinate is The Tunnel of Oppression, which raises awareness about different types of discrimination.

ZTA PINK OUT WEEK

Sorority raises awareness of breast cancer

Zeta Tau Alpha sorority hosted its second annual Pink Out week in October to encourage breast cancer awareness through events on campus and to recognize local breast cancer survivors.

> "It's more about education and awareness than raising money" —Laurel Benson

ZTA set up just outside the Baker Pattillo Student Center (BPSC) all week to distribute information, T-shirts and pink recognition ribbons.

"It's more about education and awareness than raising money," Laurel Benson, Flower Mound senior and ZTA historian, said. "We want to recognize those who have gone through a horrible disease and say how proud we are of them."

Tuesday, ZTA sold cotton candy at the BPSC for the "price" of two pink Yoplait yogurt lids. Thursday the sorority held a yogurt-eating contest at noon near Surfin' Steve. Whoever ate the most yogurt won a free t-shirt.

"It's fun," Benson said, "because people always think they can eat way more yogurt in one minute than they actually do."

All campus offices were encouraged to participate in the Pink Out Your Office contest by decorating their office in pink. The office judged the best by ZTA seniors won a lunch for 10 from Rasing Cane's.

At the following Saturday's football game against McNeese State at Homer Bryce Stadium, spectators who arrived dressed in all pink received a raffle ticket and won prizes. "It's mostly about education, because a lot of people don't know about monthly exams," Benson said. "It's always better to detect signs in earlier stages rather than later."

BPSC CINEMA

Movie madness on the weekend

Weekends at SFA were filled with many fun events, including the Baker Pattillo Student Center (BPSC) Cinema. Held every Thursday, Saturday and Sunday of the school semesters, excluding holidays, SAA provided students with the opportunity to view recent movies for a competitive low price. Stephen F. Austin students got into the movie for only $1, faculty and staff paid $2 and the community paid $3. The movies provided were recently in theatres but not yet on DVD. Occasionally, the Cinema offered midnight and matinee showings.

The Cinema recorded a dramatic increase in attendance during the fall 2009 and spring 2010 semesters, compared to previous semesters. This increase was due partly because of incentives, such as free coupons and popcorn, as well as their new popcorn machine which produces twice as much popcorn as before. The movie nights provide a great opportunity for weekend fun for students.

THE REAL LUMBERJACK

Stephen Staines represents SFA

Steven Staines, the Australian senior who is the 2009 Lumberjack mascot, says that role has given him more pride in SFA than anything he has ever experienced.

Staines' favorite memories of being the Lumberjack are the football games and Lumberjack Alley, traveling with the SFA Basketball team to the NCAA tournament and the impact he has had on students and community members. "I love representing this school," Starnes said. "I love when kids come up to me and ask to take a picture with me and I can tell them that they can achieve their goals just like I have.

"I would tell any student looking to be the next Lumberjack mascot to make your own axe and to love SFA," Staines said. "If you don't have a passion for the teams and the University, then soon you are going to get tired of it."

Staines thinks SFA made a good decision on how to present its mascot at events. "I am so glad (the SFA mascot) doesn't have a silly costume," he said. " I think the University is more respected and remembered because we don't have the average looking mascot uniform."

Staines has represented SFA for three seasons. He holds the record for TV's "longest aired mascot," racking up more TV time than any other college mascot, and was nicknamed "Big Bad Lumberjack" by Internet bloggers after the NCAA Miami game.

"All of the attention really just makes me laugh," he said, "not because I don't take it seriously but (because) I think it is all so much fun."

Steven is a health science and nutrition major and has experienced the same pressures as any other student athlete, including the drug tests, which he has passed each one without question.

Passing the tests is important to Staines because he has always been an all-natural body builder. "Using steroids just doesn't make any sense," he said. "I was blessed with good genes, but it takes hard work and discipline to meet personal goals, no matter what they are."

Staines believes if a student chooses to be in the spotlight he or she should have a message their life is built on. Staines' message is "to achieve your goals the right and healthy way."

"I never minded being in the spotlight," Stains said. "Having influence and being the Lumberjack, I got to experience all sorts of things. It is so much fun and I have met so many great people because of it."

Trish O'Connor, coordinator of spirit programs, said Staines was an easy fit in the spirit family. "There was never an 'official' interview, but Steven came to practices and did such a good job," O'Connor said. "He is physically fit, gets excited about the games and is approachable. Everything we are looking for in a mascot."

SFA was established in 1923, which was also the year students adopted the Lumberjack as the school's mascot. Suggested by English professor, T. E. Ferguson, the "Lumberjack" suggestion won more student votes than the opposing suggestion of the "Pine Cones."

The name Keith LaLonde may not ring a bell in many heads, but those who frequent the BPSC Spirit Lounge will recognize "The Piano Kid."

"I just saw it (the piano) in the UC one day and wondered why it was there," LaLonde, Pearland sophomore, said. "I saw it again later with no one playing and thought, 'You know what? I'm gonna' play this piano.'"

LaLonde was later approached by an SFA administrator and asked if he'd like to be paid. "He said they'd keep the piano out so I'd play, and I said, 'Sign me up!'"

Part of the reason he was approached to play in BPSC was to encourage others to play as well. "It's gone a long way toward making this building a more fun place to be," LaLonde said. He started playing piano in first grade as a "remote interest." Like many kids, he said he wanted to give up after a couple of years.

"I was frustrated after two years because I didn't feel like I was going anywhere with it," he said. "But my mom wouldn't let me quit, and I'm very thankful. What started as a half-assed interest became my life and a potential career," the music education major said.

On his own time, LaLonde has a wide genre interest, including rock, rap and classical, like Chopin. The binder he keeps near the piano does not contain sheets of music but a collection of songs and lyrics he already knows.

"I have about 35 sets of lyrics here and 170 songs. About half of my repertoire is rock," LaLonde said. "If I had to pick one favorite, I guess it would be 'Bohemian Rhapsody.' It's what got me better known, but it can get really loud."

Like the promotion posters claim, LaLonde really can listen to a song and learn to play it by ear on the spot. "Please bring your iPods. It makes this job five times more fun," he suggested.

He does admit he is lacking in one music genre and would like more requests in it. "I need to learn some country," LaLonde added. "I mean, this is East Texas."

Students bid Garner farewell

Rumors flew for months that Nacogdoches' tallest building, Garner Apartments, would be torn down. Students claimed Garner as one of the best student housing options, as it was essentially on-campus apartments. It was home to all of the foreign exchange students and will be missed by many SFA students.

Located next to the Intramural Fields and the closest hall to the Recreation Center as well as the Art and Agriculture buildings, Garner had the best location on campus. Students enjoyed the apartment-style living as well. It was the most economical hall on campus that provided a full kitchen, and residents could cut costs by not purchasing a meal plan.

SFA decided to tear Garner down early summer of 2009. The decision was made based upon the condition of the building, maintenance needs and upkeep costs. A new hall will take its place in the following Fall Semester. The new dorm will be a freshmen center, equipped with a four-story residence hall as well as a parking garage. Students were told to vacate the dorm by Dec. 19, 2009, and told to find alternative places to live. Garner resident Judith Barroeta said she felt like it was bad timing because she graduates in May. "It is difficult to find a place to live in my last five months at SFA," Barroeta said.

Garner residents stressed about the University's decision to tear down the dorm. "Garner was the cheapest dorm on campus, close to my classes, and I met all of the international students there," Barroeta said. Because of the decision, all of the foreign exchange students will no longer be housed in the same dorm, and instead are forced to split up and find other housing.

Students questioned the decision to tear Garner down, because it limited the amount of dorm space offered in the Spring Semester. With housing limited in the Fall 2009 Semester already, the decision did not make sense to many students. They wondered: "Why tear down one of the largest dorms on campus, when the students are desperate for housing?

DODGEBALL TOURNAMENT

Students participate in annual tourney

SAA and Campus Rec hosted the sixth annual dodgeball tournament on Oct. 17th, 2009.

This event takes place every fall, attracting more participants each year. This year's tournament attracted 30 teams. A single elimination bracket was used to determine the winners. Teams were given a chance to practice in a round before the official tournament.

The first place team received a $1,000 prize, with a $500 prize for the second place winner. Both teams received T-shirts as well.

The Sig Tau team came away with the victory, with the ATO team in nearby second place. The tournament provided a great opportunity for students to break away from school and enjoy recreational activities.

THE REC CENTER

Defense against the freshman fifteen

A new trend is growing at an alarming rate at colleges all over the nation. Lately, the term for its growth has been dubbed a "Recreation Boom." Some call it a sign of the times — a new and exciting way to recruit students to universities. As colleges compete for enrollment, building recreational facilities has become a thriving business.

Since the facility's opening in September of 2007, along with a new Student Center, new dorms and other ways to improve student life, enrollment at SFA showed its largest increase in students in 10 years. The Student Recreation Center sees an average of over 12,000 visitors per week, and the numbers continue to show growth. The facility offers a wide variety of fitness programs and activities for students to enjoy, and all students can take advantage of the exciting opportunities for free.

The Rec Center offers a variety of equipment and machines including cardio machines, weights, basketball, volleyball and racketball courts, an outdoor pool and an indoor track. Students become involved in the Rec Center through the multiple intramural sports, Group X classes and Outdoor Pursuits as a way to stay in shape and build a sense of community on campus.

If students are looking for adventure and excitement, the Outdoor Pursuits program is the next stop. The program offers a wide variety of trips and clinics. Students kicked off the fall semester by sailing in Galveston Bay. Other activities included rock climbing and cliff jumping, mountain biking at Tyler State Park, a full moon float on Lake Nacogdoches, backpacking in the hill country and skiing in New Mexico.

THE "BIG DIP"

Seniors show their pride

The "Big Dip" is an event filled with excitement for seniors at SFA. At the beginning of the second half of their collegiate career, students have the opportunity to participate in an outward display of Lumberjack pride. After purchasing a Mentor Ring, the new graduates dip their hand in purple dye to symbolize being "dipped in pride."

This tradition started at SFA in the fall of 2001. Members of the Student Foundation Association wanted to create a unique tradition for students before graduating and receiving their ring. The result was the "Ring Dip" ceremony, which was to be held the Friday of "Dead Week" each fall and spring semester.

Since the Ring Dip tradition began in 2001, more than 3,500 Mentor Rings have been sold. On Friday, Dec 11, 2009, more than 200 students showed their purple pride by participating in the Big Dip ceremony.

ONE LAST HURRAH

Springfest, an end-of-the-year tradition

Again this year, Student Activities Association hosted Springfest, an SFA tradition, in the commuter parking lot toward the end of the Spring Semester.

"Springfest is a chance for students to get in one last hurrah before finals," Amanda Horne, SAA coordinator, said. "It's a good excuse to get out and have some fun."

Springfest began around 15 years ago as an end-of-the-year party for students to get out, relax from studying and enjoy the weather, Horne said. It is completely free and open to all students, community and alumni. This year's event featured food, sodas, games and four Texas country music artists in concert: Josh Abbott Band, Rich O'Toole Band, Natalie Stovall, and Case Donahew Band.

"There was a little more focus on music this year," Horne said, "but we also had free burgers, hot dogs, barbecue and sodas, a dunking booth, football toss, water gun duels, ring toss games, prizes and some inflatables, along with the concerts."

Springfest is organized and hosted by SFA students, so it's a good chance for the community to see the hard work they put in, Horne said.

This is the third year SAA has hosted Springfest in combination with Mudbugs and Mudballs, an annual fundraiser hosted by the Student Foundation Association benefiting a leadership scholarship for incoming freshmen.

"This is one of the biggest events hosted in conjunction with the football team's final scrimmage," Mitzi Blackburn, co-adviser of the Student Foundation Association, said.

WELCOME 2009 ALUMNI

1,060 students receive diplomas

As the morning of graduation finally rolled around, SFA students were greeted with mixed emotions. Many were excited for a new adventure to begin yet at the same time sad to leave the university they had grown to love. Following the May 2009 commencement ceremony, graduates entered a new stage of their lives.

811 bachelor's degrees, 23 master's and 10 doctoral diplomas were handed out to the students. All 1,060 graduates bid farewell to Stephen F. Austin State University and looked forward to this new chapter in their lives.

SERVICES EXPANDED

AARC offers important assistance

The Academic Assistance and Resource Center, known as the AARC, offers free tutoring to students by other students. It employs more than 120 tutors and covers about 260 different classes. Walk-in tables, weekly appointments, supplemental instruction study groups and online tutoring services are all available to help students in their academic endeavors. During the 2008-2009 academic year, the AARC served over 4,000 students and recorded over 47,000 visits.

"The tutor I had was great," said Penny Whisenant, Marble Falls junior. "She knew a lot of information about the topic she was helping me with, which was algebra."

The Online Writing Lab (OWL) is one of the newest AARC developments. It allows students to engage in a live chat with tutors after hours and to submit papers online. This is especially ideal for distance education students who are not able to come to the AARC on campus for writing tutoring. Another aspect of the OWL is that tutors are continually updating writing resources. The OWL also offers worksheets so students can reinforce the concepts they wish to learn.

"We are always improving the OWL," said writing tutor Brittany O'Sullivan, Allen junior. "It is a great way to expand the AARC and its services."

The AARC has been acknowledged as the Texas Developmental Education Best Program, given the Texas Higher Education Star Award and awarded the National Developmental Education Distinguished Certification.

Students nominate faculty and staff

For many students, there is that one professor or staff member who helped them somewhere along the way through college and made a lasting impact. Some of these faculty and staff members, who work endlessly to create exciting and educational classes for their students or makes students' times more enjoyable at SFA, are featured in the 2010 Stone Fort.

In the first weeks of September, an e-mail was sent to all students, faculty and staff members requesting nominations for those faculty and staff members they felt most deserved to be featured in the yearbook.

Within the first few days, more than 30 nominations came in from various people. Many nominations were from students, some from colleagues and supervisors; some individuals received multiple nominations.

The selected nominations include an internationally exhibiting artist, a womens' studies professor, an expert in psychedelic drugs, an outdoor pursuits leader, a professor with a love for cheeseburgers in paradise, a creator of a post-Apocalyptic zombie role-playing game and a professor who has battled cancer while teaching classes. The one thing all the nominees shared was the respect and admiration of those who nominated them.

The inclusion of these outstanding faculty and staff members is important to the academics section. Although stories featuring students and their academic pursuits have typically been run, we recognize that without the professors and staff members, the University would not be what it is today for the students.

The following four pages are dedicated to a select few nominees the Academics Section chose to feature. Those pictured below were also excellent nominees.

‘My classes are free speech zones’

Dr. Lee Payne is a political science professor who attended SFA for his undergraduate degree in political science and communication in 2003. He received his masters and PhD in political science in the following years from the University of Houston. He is a laid-back professor who enjoys interacting with his students through open discussions. “My classes are free speech zones and I encourage my students to voice their opinions,” Payne said. “I also try to encourage side discussions to break up the monotony of political discussions.” Outside of the classroom most of Payne’s time is spent with his English bulldog, Brix. “He’s a big, fat, burping, drooling bundle of love,” he said. Payne advises his students to, “Have fun but prioritize.”

KAROL CHANDLER-EZELL

'I was doomed to be an anthropologist'

Karol Chandler-Ezell, often called Dr. K. by her students, is an anthropologist currently in the Sociology department for five years keeps a busy life between work, family, and volunteering in between.

A native of Toltec, Arkansas Chandler-Ezell found her way to Texas upon marrying her husband of 13 years.

"I married a Texan, and they have to come home," she said.

Dr. K. has two young daughters Robyn and Sasha. While spare time can be hard to come by, she loves cooking, and especially learning the composition of food.

"There's not a lot of spare time when you have two kiddos," she said. "I'm whipped by my kiddos."

In her spare time, she also enjoys reading, photographing her daughters, and volunteering at Chimp Haven. Chimp Haven, located 90 miles away from SFA, houses around 128 former research chimps. Chandler-Ezell often takes classes to the Haven.

"New professors don't have a lot of time that's not involved with research or publications," Dr. K. said.

Chandler-Ezell attributes her upbringing with leading her to the path of anthropology. Her father is of Cherokee ancestry, and her great-uncle and great-grandfather were medicine men.

"I was raised old," Chandler-Ezell said. "I talked like older people, and I hung out with older people because my dad owned a store. I would sleep in the sack bins and overhear WWII vets, and Vietnam vets telling stories. I was doomed to be a anthropologist."

RONALD KING

'I'm kinda' an old weirdo.'

Creating has always been a part of Ron King's life, and the School of Art has been a perfect outlet for him. He is the shop supervisor and safety officer, as well as a teacher for wood shop and a silent movie horror class.

"Growing up, I never really thought about buying stuff," he said. "If we needed a bike, we just made it. If we needed a new camera, we researched how to make one out of a Pringles can."

He tries to bring his passion for art to his students and has found multiple venues for them.

"I'm a huge monster movie fanatic," King said. "I don't really see art as limited. Anything is art."

This admitted "old weirdo" knows he will never slow his life down.

"I've done every job in the world. I've led 50 lives," he said. "That's a good thing to have."

What will always be most important to King, though, is that he has helped so many students.

"I love teaching kids. Young people mean a lot. That's where the real life is – they have a fire," he said. "My best piece of advice for them is this: Read as much as you can. Do as much as you can. You should always be thinking, making something constantly."

TIM CLIPSON

Classroom is a 'learning laboratory'

Dr. Timothy Clipson is the coordinator of SFA 101 courses and a faculty member in the College of Business, where he teaches Executive Communication and Executive Leadership.

Clipson was born in Illinois and moved to Texas when he was 10. He got his undergraduate degree in psychology at Southern Nazarene University in Oklahoma, his master's in vocational education at the University of North Texas and a doctorate in training and development for business and industry at Oklahoma State University. He taught public school for seven years in Wichita Falls and taught two years at OSU.

In 1981 Clipson came to SFA, where he was impressed with the opportunity to share what he had, a passion to teach. He helped build the SFA 101 program in 1994.
"It's exciting to help the students be successful, and SFA has given me an incredible opportunity to do that, he said."

Clipson views the classroom as a "learning laboratory" where students can experiment and be challenged to grow. "They can learn as much from each other as they can from the instructor."

Clipson also established the LIFE company. LIFE stands for Leadership Is For Everyone. The company helps with personal leadership development and is about helping its members improve their own lives and those of people around them. It hosts personal growth seminars to high schools, and colleges and corporate programs.

THOMAS SEGADY

Sociology professor enthusiastic about future

Dr. Thomas Segady, 2009 Regents Professor, will use the cash award tied to the honor to help support his current research.

Segady, professor of sociology, was named Regents Professor, an award given out once a year to one faculty member for excellence in teaching and research.

"It's a good honor, and it will support my research," Segady said.

Segady's current research is in the sociology of religion, particularly in religious change in India and Indians who are coming to the United States.

"I'm trying to figure out how their religion changes as a result of their immigration experience," Segady said. "In fact, some of the Indians I've talked to are more Hindu here than they are there. They just don't have much time over there because they're constantly working."

Segady won't have to go far to study. Houston now has the second biggest Hindu population in the United States, trailing only New York.

Talkative and friendly in person, Segady is known for his energy and enthusiasm in the classroom.

"You have to make the knowledge sound new and interesting," Segady said. "I didn't coin this expression, but I thought this really makes sense: 'You always have to try to remember what it was like not to know.' You can't get up there and assume people know stuff. Although at 3 o'clock in the afternoon it becomes difficult."

Segady is currently teaching a class titled Ethical Futures with a focus on the Genome Project. The class deals with genetic enhancement and its impact on society.

"If you could enhance your kid 20 IQ points, would you do it?" Segady asked. "So you'll have a bunch of smart people, but perhaps you won't have anybody who wants to do the work in society that needs to be done."

An interesting dilemma indeed, and Segady only makes it seem more fascinating in person. Although he is in his 20th year of teaching at SFA, he seems as excited about his subject matter as ever.

"I suspect I'll be working for awhile now," Segady joked.

ADAM PECK

Dean shows students what he's got

For Dr. Adam Peck, dean of student affairs, nothing gives him more pride and entertainment than being a part of SFA.

Peck completed his undergraduate studies at Lewis University, a "small, Catholic university" which is just south of Chicago.

"I lived just far enough away that I couldn't go home every weekend," Peck said. "But I lived close enough so that I could go home if I wanted to or really needed to."

Peck got his master's degree in communication studies at Southern Illinois University in Edwardsville. He would go on to get a PhD in educational administration at University of Texas at Austin.

Although Peck has only been at SFA for a little over two years, he said, "It feels like much longer than it really is, but in a good way".

"This university really pulls you in," Peck said. "You really feel a part of it. It's hard to think about a time I wasn't at SFA."

Peck describes himself as a big fan of the St. Louis Cardinals. "I try at least once or maybe twice a year to catch one of the games in Houston."

Outside of his work at SFA, playing music is a big hobby for Peck. He tries to play piano and sing at the Fredonia Hotel about once a month. He has done so four times now, playing mainly acoustic folk and other popular music.

"I pretty much play whatever I know." Peck said.

Peck spends a great deal of time participating in and attending events at the university. He enjoys taking his family "to as many theatre and music productions as we can go to," as well as banquets, football games and other events.

"Any place there's lasagna you can find me there," Peck said, laughing.

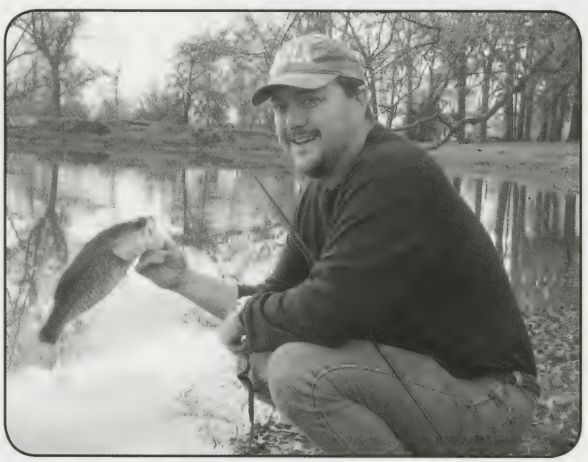
MITCHELL CROCKER

Advice from a 'country boy'

Dr. Mitchell Crocker is a professor in the College of Business who came to SFA in the fall of 2001. He was sold after his first visit. "My brother lives in Texas and suggested I look for teaching opportunities here," Crocker said. "I sent resumes to about a dozen universities in the state. When I visited SFA, I found the small town rural setting to be compatible with my country boy lifestyle."

Crocker teaches a variety of upper-level business classes at SFA, and he is currently the faculty adviser to the Society for Advancement of Management. As the adviser for this program, Crocker helps provide numerous programs and opportunities on and off campus for students. "In the classroom, I try to encourage discussion, and I always keep my door open and my time available to meet with students," he said.



The business professor has a variety of hobbies outside of the classroom including hunting, fishing and playing golf, but the main one is scuba diving. "Scuba diving is my passion these days," Crocker said. "Getting underwater, especially the crystal clear warm waters of the Caribbean, is the ultimate in entertainment and relaxation." He is also a PADI certified scuba instructor, so he is able to attend the open water certification dives the SFA scuba classes perform. Crocker loves to read in his spare time, especially murder mysteries and suspense novels. For his own entertainment, Crocker enjoys playing guitar and dabbling in song writing.

Crocker's advice to college students would be: 'Treat classes like a job. You might not like it or enjoy it, but to get the paycheck you must get the job done," he said. "Also, it is not a sprint, but a long-distance race, so do not get discouraged. Enjoy the experience but keep your eyes on the prize."

DANA COOPER

Third-year professor keeps it fresh

History professor Dana Cooper is in the midst of her third year teaching at SFA after attending a conference here in the fall of 2006 and applying for a job soon after. She received her undergraduate degree in history from Angelo State University in San Angelo, Texas, and went on to get her PhD. Cooper decided to major in history because of a teacher she had her freshman year in college. "I had a fabulous professor for first year history," Cooper said. "He made it like a story, like you were actually there." In college, Cooper was involved in a few campus activities including cheerleading and orientation events, where she greeted freshmen and helped them with the transition from high school to college.

The courses Cooper teaches include Women's History and Diplomatic History. Women's History looks at the different experiences of women in the United States and Europe throughout the years, while Diplomatic History covers the study of international relations. Cooper finds it easy to interact with her students by joking and teasing with them before class. "I like to visit with students and let them know I realize there is a lot more going on in their lives than just a history class," Cooper said.

In her spare time Cooper enjoys baking, although she says she is not usually a fan of the kitchen. "I also love being outdoors and spending time looking at all the beautiful trees and flowers in East Texas," Cooper said. "I know a lot of people complain about all the rain we get around here, but growing up in West Texas where rain is scarce, you learn to appreciate it." Cooper became a mother about a year ago and likes to go shopping in downtown Nacogdoches with her daughter. "I love being able to live in a small community where people will come up to me and start talking to my daughter and me," she said.

When asked what advice she would give to college students, Cooper said to keep chipping along. "Stick with it, and someday you will look up and be the holder of a college degree which will change your life forever."

'PIECES' OF HISTORY

Planetarium shows film tracing Galileo's revolutionary invention

This year marks the 400th anniversary since Galileo first gazed into the heavens through a primitive spyglass, forever changing the way scientists looked at the stars. Here on Earth, SFA's best-kept secret, the planetarium (pictured right), celebrated the event in astronomical proportions.

The program selected to highlight the year of Galileo is "Two Small Pieces of Glass." The film traced the evolution of the telescope from its humble beginning as a child's spyglass to the ever-vigilant Hubble. It also offered viewers a chance to step outside the building and into Galileo's shoes. Professor Ed Michaels, director of the planetarium, said, "We have a telescope that is very similar to the one Galileo had; we showed people what he saw."

Michaels added that providing both informative and cutting edge programs were top priorities. "We try to make the planetarium the center of the community; a place where people can come to learn about the science of astronomy." Throughout the year, the planetarium will provide a range of programs from the exploration of man, past and present, to look at the seasonal nights of the winter months. With programs that are both informative and imaginative the planetarium serves as a constant reminder to the undying spirit of adventure and exploration.

OBSERVING THE SKY

Stars and planets become clear

The SFA Observatory, located outside of Nacogdoches, gives students the opportunity to view stars and planets with the help of faculty members and students in the Department of Physics and Astronomy. Most of the students who visit the observatory are enrolled in SFA 101 or Astronomy courses, and get the chance to look at stars, planets, and galaxies with the telescopes provided.

Erika Purdy, Hurst junior, visited the observatory when she took Astronomy 105. "It was a lot of fun, while at the same time it was still an educational experience," Purdy said. "I am from the city where we don't get to see many stars, so it was awesome to see planets like Mars and Jupiter up close."

There are a variety of telescopes at the observatory, ranging from 41 inches to 8 inches. The larger telescopes are used primarily for research and searching for minor planets. There have been twelve 8-inch telescopes at the observatory since 2001, which are primarily used for the astronomy students who visit the observatory.

Jonathan Garris, Groveton junior, also visited the observatory for one of his classes. "I had always looked up at the stars previously, but I never had a clear indication of what was what," Garris said. "The student instructors at the observatory were able to help make things clear for our class."

According to their web site, the SFA Observatory is the largest student observatory in the state. The observatory also has a Weather Station that lets the local community know the status of current weather conditions and temperature changes.

During the year, The Society of Physics Students also hosted free public viewing nights at the observatory for students and members of the community who were interested in learning more about the universe.

MAJOR OPENS DOORS

Students embrace digital age

The television and radio major at SFA offers numerous opportunities to students interested in working in a broadcast medium.

Sherry Williford, instructor in global media, spoke about some of the options afforded radio/TV majors.

"I think originally most of the people that start as radio/TV majors want to work in traditional media as far as radio and television," she said. "Once they get here, they see that there are other avenues besides the traditional radio/TV route, such as corporate video production companies and Internet Web sites. There is a lot more to it than just being a disc jockey or a news anchor.

"With the media ever-changing, you never know from one day to the next what's going on," she said. "It's good that they can see there are some other things down the line. Now, a lot of radio and television is done on the Internet."

However, in this digital age, not every communication student comes in with a blank slate.

"A lot of students start college with a little more experience than we used to see," she said. "They've tinkered with it online or on YouTube. Many high-schoolers now have small stations; they want to be in the business. When they get to SFA, some are not sure what they want to do. That is when we show them different avenues so they can make informed decisions."

According to Williford, the majority of radio/TV majors go on to television careers as producers, photographers and news anchors.

TWELFTH NIGHT

Shakespeare brought to life

The SFA theatre department preented a production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" Nov. 17 through Nov. 21.

The play occurs in the imaginary, tropical paradise of Illyria, a land as mythical and unexplainable as one of the main themes explored—love. The play's fictional setting opens up possibilities limited only to the designer's imaginations and the director's overall vision

The play opens with Orsino, the Duke of Illyria, declaring his love for Olivia, a beautiful but distant Countess. At the same time Viola has been shipwrecked on the strange shores of Illryia.

Unsure of where she is and convinced her brother died in the shipwreck, she searches for anyone to answer her many questions. Her answers come from a friendly sea captain who explains to her not only where she is but also the situation between Orsino and Olivia. Viola eventually has the captain disguise her like a man so she can seek service in the house of Orsino. Soon the many other eccentric and unforgettable characters are introduced—the beautiful, yet forlorn Olivia, her glib, drunk of an uncle, Sir Toby, and the shockingly intuitive clown, Feste. All of them help provide insight and add to the confusion of this humorous story of mistaken identity.

This is not the first time for director Scott Shattuck, associate professor and head of the theatre department, to take the reins of this Shakespeare classic. "It's the second time I have directed this play," Shattuck said. "I directed it 22 years ago when I was in graduate school." Shattuck explained it was the play's touching nature and its pure expression of love that really appealed to him. "It's one of my handful of favorite plays, not just of Shakespeare's, but of the whole literary world," Shattuck said.

Despite the dated language, Shattuck is confident the message will still ring true to today's audience. "It's very easy for audiences to understand it," Shattuck said. "Its basic material is as relevant today as it was 400 years ago; it's basically a play about love and foolishness, both of which are just as a much a part of the 21 century as the 17 century."

Although Shattuck has had experience with this play before, he explained he was trying to handle this production with a fresh set of eyes. Noting the designer's input, Shattuck explained how with an abstract set, '50s era costumes and new multimedia effects, which show images simultaneously with the action, all make this production different than any he has worked on in the past.

Samantha Walker, Houston sophomore, has the difficult task of bringing to life not only Viola but also her male counterpart Cesario. Walker said the most difficult part of the production thus far has been fine-tuning the physicality demanded for each role.

Walker not only has to portray the physical differences between men and women but the emotional differences as well. "It's been very emotionally draining; her heart is in so many different places," Walker said.

She said the production has been an amazing experience, one in which she has the opportunity to be directed by "a very talented man who is very easy to work with."

"This journey has really matured me as an actress," Walker said.

With opening night just one day away both Walker and Shattuck were beginning to feel the anxious excitement which comes from performing in front of an audience. "I hope they can connect with it," Walker said. "There are so many different aspects of love for people to identify with."

"I would love it if they realize the timeliness of love," Shattuck said. "I think the younger people will be surprised at seeing themselves, and I hope the older ones see their memories.

SFA OPENS NEW ECRC

Crowd welcomes learning lab

The new $30 million Early Childhood Research Center facility has received great feedback since its opening ceremony July 19. A large number of people came out to hear opening remarks from the University president and members of the Board of Regents, along with singing entertainment from the children of the Charter School, which was followed by the ribbon cutting.

The facility is located on Raguet Street adjacent to Homer Bryce Stadium. SFA is the only other university in the state to have a charter school that is actually a school besides UT in Austin. On the first floor is the Early Childhood Lab where classes for infants as young as 6 weeks to 5 years are held. The Charter School is a public school where the grades range from kindergarten to fifth grade. The Early Childhood Lab is tuition based and is open to children of faculty and staff and the children from Nacogdoches.

The Charter School is just like any other school but without a cafeteria. Students and teachers participate in family style dining, which Lori Harkness, director, describes as like eating "at home." The children eat their lunch and morning snacks in the classrooms.

The second floor of the building houses the educational department where students go for classes. Elementary education majors participate in programs that involve interaction and observation. Interns and student teachers are required to participate in order to receive teacher certification. Harkness said some interns and student teachers are hired after they receive certification to work with their own group of children.

"The students are here with us, so it's not just them sitting in a class," Harkness said. "They are active and involved with the kids, so it's hands on."

The old Early Childhood Lab was located on Raguet Street on the other side of campus. The building is now shared by kinesiology and human sciences.

MORE THAN A DEAN

The leaders of your college

The deans of SFA's six academic colleges are often viewed as all business and suits by their faculty and students. But there is a more fun and relaxed side to these men. Among other activities, they enjoy spending time with their families, attending concerts and football games on the weekends and relaxing at home after a long day.

Mel Finkenberg
education

Dr. Mel Finkenberg was born and raised in Brooklyn New York. He originally tried to make his way to Texas with a basketball scholarship to SHSU. After meeting with the coach, he failed to hear from him again. It was years later that he discovered his brother took a message from the coach and forgot to relay it.

"When I was a kid, I was on the cusp," he said. "I could have gone any way. The thing that kept me off the streets was a teacher's last push."

"I like the outdoors, but I don't want to portray that I'm a rugged outdoors guy."

Michael Stroup
business

Pictures of wolves line the office wall of Dr. Michael Stroup. They remind Stroup of his Montana background.

In his spare time, Stroup enjoys golfing, spending time with his family, traveling and spending time with friends. The Stroup family takes camping trips or trips out of town at least once a month.

"If you take yourself away from your house, you really do spend more time together," Stroup said, "and I think that's important."

"Come by my house every Saturday and you will see me detailing my car when it's not raining."

A.C. 'Buddy' Himes
fine arts

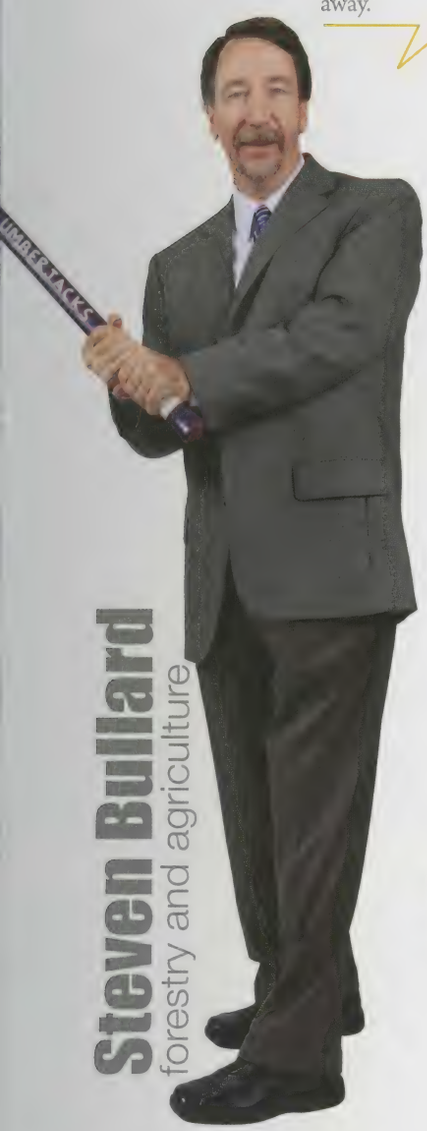
Among the books on the bookcase in A.C. "Buddy" Himes' office are small model cars, including a model of his Mercedes SLK 350.

Himes refers to cars as his weakness, passion and favorite hobby. He enjoys going to car shows, watching car-related television shows and collecting model cars.

Born and raised in Virginia, Himes came to Texas in 1975.

"I'm not originally from Texas, but I got here as quick as I could," Himes said.

"I have a really big motorcycle, so I go for a ride when I want to get away."



Steven Bullard
forestry and agriculture

Dr. Steven Bullard, dean of the College of Forestry and Agriculture, grew up in a military household and served in the Navy before deciding forestry was the right path for him.

He considers his home state to be Mississippi, where he owns property and visits whenever he can.

He especially likes what many refer to as quiet enjoyment of the forest. In his spare time, Bullard also enjoys hunting and fishing.

Brian Murphy
liberal and applied arts

Pictures of European countries that Dr. Brian Murphy visited during his time working under the European Union surround his desk in the College of Liberal and Applied Arts.

Murphy enjoys traveling, playing tennis and having friends over for dinner.

"I like to try recipes for things that I've heard of but never tried before, because if I prepare it wrong, I never have to know," Murphy said.

He hopes that one day, once he retires, he can write non-fiction.

"We're still waiting on the great American novel," Murphy said, chuckling. "Maybe I'll give it a shot when I retire."

"I'm a cheesehead."

Anthony Duben
sciences and mathematics

A Green Bay Packers hat sits on the rack in the office of Dean Anthony Duben.

"I was born and raised in Wisconsin," he said as he laughed, gesturing towards the hat.

He is a season ticket holder for the music and theatre programs at SFA. In his spare time, he enjoys attending other programs on campus as well.

"Once you get past 30, excitement suddenly becomes a synonm for trouble," Duben said. "So many things happen at work that I just like to go home and wind down for the next day."

A professor who gives it her all

A picture of three panda bears greets students who knock on the office door of Elizabeth Witherspoon, SFA associate professor of elementary education. One might assume the picture is a friendly greeting to students, that Dr. Witherspoon loves pandas, but in actuality, the picture portrays the Panda Bear Cycle of Chemo, a visual description of the different stages of chemotherapy.

Witherspoon went in for a regularly scheduled mammogram only to discover that she had stage 2 breast cancer. Fourteen months later, after surgery and chemotherapy, Witherspoon has continued to teach at SFA. She admitted that not much could keep her away from doing the thing she loves—teaching.

"The H1N1 nearly scared me away," said Witherspoon, "but in the end, I figured I already had cancer. What's a little H1N1?"

Panda bears are not the only cancer related memorabilia that adorn Witherspoon's office. Several handmade montages of breast cancer ribbons sit near the back. Post cards from around the world are displayed against the side of a cabinet in the form of the well-recognized cancer ribbon.

Witherspoon collected many of the post cards from places she visited, but several cards have been sent by students while on vacation. "It's try and take one day at a time," Witherspoon said, "which can be so blah. But sometimes someone will drop off a card, little things like that help."

"I enjoy traveling," Witherspoon said. "I've been to four out of the seven continents. I've also lived in Canada, which was a wonderful experience."

Every month, Witherspoon plans a small trip to give herself a break and something to look forward to.

Witherspoon wears a beret to camouflage the loss of her hair, a side effect of chemotherapy. On her lower neck, she wears a tattoo of the pink cancer ribbon.

"The tattoo is a physical reminder that it's not always about the cancer; I have more in my life," Witherspoon said. "It also provides the opportunity for conversation, to hear about people who have survived cancer and talk to those who know nothing about cancer."

Witherspoon says that because of her outgoing personality, one of the hardest adjustments has been limiting contact with other people due to her weak immune system. This has also translated to the classroom. "I'm a huggie type of person, so sometimes it's hard," Witherspoon said.

She maintains a positive outlook. "No matter how bad I feel, when I show up to class, it's all gone," Witherspoon said. "If I can just make it to class, I can turn on the passionate teaching part."

Charlotte Wakefield and Callie Ferguson are two of the many students who regularly lunch with the popular professor. Wakefield says of Witherspoon, "She gets to know you on a personal level, which is so important since as teacher candidates we are taught the importance of building relationships with our own students."

Ferguson said Witherspoon is one of the strongest women she knows. "She doesn't think she is more important than anyone else. She says, 'I'm just another person who has cancer. What's the big deal?' "

"You are always a role model." Witherspoon said. "When I feel the worst, I have to remember to keep moving, to keep looking forward to something. It takes a strong person to deal with cancer. Otherwise, it will just eat you up."

OPPOSITE BOTTOM LEFT "She's a firecracker," Jessica Hogan said. "She wants us to be the best teachers we can be."

CONFERENCE CHAMPS

The Stephen F. Austin Lumberjack Football team won a share of its first Southland Conference Championship since 1999 with their 19-10 victory over Northwestern State Saturday Nov. 22, in Turpin Stadium in Natchitoches.

Stephen F. Austin and McNeese State both won their final season games to split the 2009 Southland Conference championship, but the Lumberjacks were the league's automatic qualifier for the NCAA Division I Football Playoffs thanks to a 16-13 victory over the Cowboys during the opening weekend of conference play back on Oct. 10. To top off a great season, junior quarterback Jeremy Moses also completed 34-of-47 passes for 333 yards and two touchdowns, and he became the school's career leader in passing yards.

"This is a great feeling," said SFA head coach J.C. Harper. "To come from 0-11 two years ago to where we are today is unbelievable. Our seniors have been tremendous this season. They have done a great job of getting our team ready to play every week. Our guys fought hard, and we're winners. I'm really proud of my coaching staff as well.

Most points scored

SFA record-breaking home opener

The Sept. 10, 92-0 blowout over Texas College broke SFA's "Most Points Scored" record of 73 set in 1999 vs. Wingate.

Friendswood senior and Lumberjack safety Cory Barlow set the stage with the Jacks' recently added pre-game tradition of axing a log on the 50-yard line. He utilized this enthusiasm with three solo stops and two assists.

Chandler freshman Ryan Epperson led the Jacks' defense with five solo stops and six assists that held Texas College's total offensive yards to only 92.

Starting quarterback and Baytown junior Jeremy Moses threw 12 complete passes with six touchdowns until the second quarter when Coppell sophomore Dalton Williams took over to throw six complete passes with two touchdowns in the defeat over Texas College.

The win at home was uplifting after the heartbreak game that slipped away in Dallas vs. SMU the previous Saturday.

"It was the game we should've won," said Carrollton junior and offensive lineman Jesse Funk. "We played hard, and we definitely should have won that one." The final score was 31-23 Mustangs.

Barlow picked off a Bo Levi Mitchell pass and returned it 75 yards with Gralyn Crawford following up to score. Moses finished the game 31-of-52 for 391 yards and two touchdowns. Houston senior Aaron Rhea was SFA's top target, hauling in eight passes for 167 yards and a touchdown. Rhea finished the game just 10 yards shy of a career-high. Lewisville junior Chad Haynes led the SFA defensive effort recording seven tackles. Barlow added six stops and an interception.

LADYJACK VOLLEYBALL

SFA women earn tournament title

SFA hosted the Ladyjack Volleyball Invitational Sept. 18-19 with the home team going undefeated and earning the tournament title. Rowlett sophomore Mary Caitlin Bottles was awarded tournament MVP and named to the all-tournament team along with Ashley Bailey, Mesquite senior, and Melissa Miksch, Austin sophomore.

The Ladyjacks opened the tournament with a seemingly effortless sweep of the Alcorn State Lady Braves on Friday afternoon. Miksch served 3 aces with 10 digs and 4 kills. Bailey handed out 8 kills and 2 blocks, with Bottles and Sabrina Burns, McAlester freshman, having 7 kills each.

SFA faced off with the Houston Cougars on Friday night and earned its first sweep over the team. Bottles earned 11 kills, and Miksch earned 10 with 13 digs and a double-double. Buckner handed out 30 assists to her teammates with 3 blocks and 4 kills to earn the 3-0 win.

The Ladyjacks began their series Saturday with a sweep of the Texas A&M Corpus Christi Islanders 3-0. Bottles earned 12 kills, with Bailey close behind at 11. Buckner had 7 blocks and more than 30 assists with Madison Hanlan, Arlington freshman, racking up 3 aces.

SFA closed out the weekend with its only non-sweep victory over the Miami Redhawks 3-1 in Saturday's second game. Bailey had 15 kills and 4 blocks, with Bottles at 12 kills and 4 blocks. Washington, Ill., senior Paloma Buckner had 49 assists with Kelsey Owens, The Colony junior, at 10 kills.

LADYJACK VOLLEYBALL

Ladyjacks give SFA a reason to cheer

The Ladyjacks entered the 2009 season without a conference trophy to defend for the first time since 2004. However, a youthful team accepted the challenge. Eight underclassmen, including five freshman, made up most of SFA's roster this year with the goal of trying to get back to SFA's patented style of volleyball: scrappy defense and ball control. "Defense really is an attitude. We definitely have that back, and that is the base for everything that we want to do," said head coach Debbie Humphreys.

Only four players (senior Ashley Bailey and juniors Kelsey Owens, Laurel Kuepker and Arielle Daron) returned for the 2009 season with at least one championship ring. That group was counted on to show the team's younger members exactly what was needed to regain SFA's spot at the top of the league.

A redshirt senior, Bailey is the most experienced player on the roster and has made dramatic strides over the last two seasons. This year she was in a position to take over a larger role, including a more prominent leadership position.

"She has really become a leader on this squad, which early on was not even something that we had put on her list of things we needed from her," Humphreys said."She has amazing athleticism and is one of those players that if she can go out and play relaxed volleyball, great things can happen because she can do things athletically that you cannot coach."

Kelsey Owens was the one to fill a void left by graduating seniors who accounted for nearly 40 percent of the Ladyjacks' offense last season. As a junior, she was the most experienced player that SFA had returning on the outside.

"We are really excited about Kelsey and watching her take her game to another level," Humphreys said. "We hope she has become a six-rotation player and will look to her to be a primary hitter and passer."

"The expectations for this year's squad are the same as they are every year. Our program is built on the feeling that we can win this league every year, make the NCAA Tournament every year and make some noise," Humphreys said. "Those expectations will stay the same, and it is our job as a team to figure out how to get it done with this group and how we can get the most out of them."

Earns a win on the road against McNeese

Coppell freshman Laura Sadler's goal in the 52nd minute proved to be the game-winner for SFA, as the Ladyjacks picked up a 1-0 road win on a rain-soaked field against McNeese. The victory brought SFA within a win of earning its overall record (5-6-0) and improved the Ladyjacks to 2-0-0 in Conference play.

"This was a great win on the road," SFA head coach George Van Linder said. "McNeese is a traditional power in the SLC, so to get a win on the road today is fantastic."

After a stagnant first half, the action picked up. Kim Kimmel, El Paso junior, recorded a shot on goal two minutes into the half. Kimmel slipped a pass between two defenders, and Sadler ran onto the ball, tucking a low shot underneath the Cowgirl's keeper and inside the far post for her second goal of the season. The game-winning goal was the first of Sadler's career.

SFA fired a season-high 27 shots, almost doubling the 14 McNeese put up. The Ladyjacks finished with a 10-6 advantage in shots on goal.

Kimmel led the way with eight shots, four of which were on target, while Megan Cash, Austin senior, fired six shots. Two of Sadler's four shots found their mark.

LUMBERJACK GOLF

The Stephen F. Austin men's golf team broke a 26-year tournament record to win the 2009 Sam Houston State Invitational at the Elkins Lake Golf Club on October 13, 2009. The 'Jacks shot a notable seven-under par 561 to outpace the competition by five strokes. The tournament, which was originally schedule for 54 holes, was shortened to 36 due to poor weather conditions in the area. The Lumberjacks score (272-289 - 561) broke the record that was originally set by Sam Houston State in 1983.

"The guys came here ready to play," said SFA head coach Trey Schroeder. "We still have some things that we need to work on, but we accomplished everything we came here to do. It is a great honor to have set a new course record, considering how young we are."

Sophomore Stetson McMillan and freshman Mitchell McLeroy both posted career-low rounds of 67 helping the 'Jacks secure a first-place spot after Monday's round of action. McMillan finished second in the overall standings, just missing the individual title by two strokes. McMillan fired a 67-71--138 to finish four-under par.

Senior Matt Oates was fifth overall after carding back-to-back one-under par rounds (70-70--140). Coming off his redshirt season, junior Ricky Wilkenfeld came up big with an eighth-place showing. Wilkenfeld recorded a one-under 68-73-141 for his second-career top-10 finish. After finishing the opening day with a five-under par 67, McLeroy struggled a bit on the final 18 with a five-over 75. He finished the tournament 10th overall with a 67-75--142. Freshman Austin Green carded rounds of 73-75 to finish tied for 21st overall.

SETTING NEW STANDARDS

Advancing to NCAA Tournament in Miami

The Jacks had a great 2008-2009 season, becoming the first team in school history to make the NCAA tournament. SFA went into the tournament with a 14th seed but fell short to 3rd seeded Syracuse in the south region in Miami on March 20 in a 59-44 final.

Benson Akpan, Kaduna, Nigeria, senior, had his first career double-double with 12 points and 10 rebounds to lead the Jacks. Nick Shaw, Arlington senior, was right behind him with 10 points. Head Coach Danny Kaspar made sure to let the majority of the team get time on the court.

"I just went out there and played like we do every day on game days," Akpan said.

Even though SFA suffered a loss in the first round, the Jacks got a small town in East Texas nationwide recognition and put SFA athletics on the radar for years to come, paving the way for future success in big tournaments. SFA led the country in three-point defense and held Syracuse to only 2-16 at the three-point line with 21 turnovers while SFA sat at 6 turnovers.

> "I'm very proud of this team. They've overcome injuries to some key people throughout the year, and they really played well."
> - Coach Danny Kaspar

In a post-game interview, Kaspar said, "I just want to congratulate Syracuse on their win. They're playing some very good basketball in the three weeks to a month. They played very well and deserve a lot of the credit for what happened out there today but I also feel that we didn't play up to our capabilities. I think there was a bad case of the shakes with some of us, and even when that settled down, we just couldn't get it going."

"I'm very proud of this team," Kasper said. "They've overcome some injuries to some key people throughout the year, and they really played well down the stretch within our league. I'm not going to let today's loss take away from that."

In order to clinch a spot in the NCAA tournament, the Jacks had to win the Southland Conference Tournament as well. They played their first game in the SLC tournament against Southeastern Louisiana, defeating them by a final score of 67-56 to put them just two games away from the NCAA. Their goal of being one of the 65 best teams in the nation and making the NCAA tournament became a reality for the Jacks after they knocked off UTSA in the conference championship in a 68-57 final.

Kasper said it meant a lot to him to help lead his team, in particular the seniors, to the NCAA and that if he could help it, there was no way they would end their college careers without making "The Big Dance." It was the Jacks' first time to play on national TV for the season as they made history on ESPN 2.

CROSS COUNTRY

How far is too far?

The Ladyjack and Lumberjack Cross Country Teams had an impressive season. The warm-up at Corpus Christi was positive and followed up by great finishes with two relatively young teams. Senior Keith Mahipala and teammate Dennis Yeats had a season full of great races. Junior Amy Shackelford and sophomore Stephanie Ganter were consistent all season for the women. The consistency of Shackelford, Ganter and Mitch Ownbey have lead to Southland Conference honors for each. The teams proved their strength this season, even through questionable situations and controversial results.

ABOVE Both teams show off their first place trophies earned at the Florida State University Invitational. The SFA men swept the top three individual spots and put all five scoring runners in the top 10 while the Ladyjacks placed four of their top five inside the first 10 slots.

All-Around Champions

Women's track team wins both indoor and outdoor championships

The SFA Ladyjacks won the 2009 Southland Conference Indoor Track and Field title by outscoring Texas State, 158-113.66, Feb. 21, in Houston, Texas.

The trio of Tabitha Riley, Ebbonye Johnson and Megan Harlan placed in the top eight including All-SLC performances by Riley and Johnson. Junior thrower Frednisha Marshall recorded an NCAA provisional mark of 67-1.50 to set a new school and conference record and repeat as conference champion. Her throw was nearly 12 feet further than her nearest competition. As the 2009 SLC Indoor Most Outstanding Field Athlete, she qualified for the NCAA Indoor Championships in the weight throw, finishing third overall to earn All-America honors. Junior Kaitlyn Andrews recorded her first career individual title by winning the event with her throw of 47-5.25. Andrews bested teammate Marshall who finished second overall to record her second all-conference honor of the meet. Junior Silent-Joye Egboba-Waye was third in the 60-meter hurdles with her time of 8.57. Sophomore Arteria Sterns recorded a conference runner-up finish in the women's 60-meter dash. Sterns recorded a time of 7.64, missing the overall title by two one-hundredths of a second. Junior Camelia Sams finished second overall in the triple jump with her mark of 39-1.25. Freshman Stephanie Ganter was the runner-up by clocking a time of 10:16.27 in the 3,000 meters. Sophomore Amy Shackelford was fifth overall. SFA's 4X400-meter relay earned honors with a third-place finish.

On May 10, the second time in school history, the SFA Ladyjacks won the SLC Outdoor Track and Field title. The Ladyjacks dominated the competition, outscoring Texas State 173.50 - 135.50, at Fletcher Garner Track. It is the first time in school history that SFA has won the track and field title in Nacogdoches.

Amy Shackelford earned an impressive victory in the women's 10,000 meters on the first day of competition Friday, and that following Sunday she followed it up with a win in the 5,000, with a time of 17:16.52. Stephanie Ganter, 2009 SLC Indoor Freshman of the Year, also finished second in the women's 10,000 meters, and posted conference runner-up finish in the 5,000 as well with a time of 17:36.34.

Freshman Lauren Watts made a late rally in the women's 400-meter hurdles to finish second overall. Watts rallied from the back of the pack with 125 meters remaining to bound into second place. The Ladyjacks' 4X100-meter relay team of Kelia Crawford, Arteria Sterns, Camelia Sams and Silent-Joy Egboba-Waye finished third in the event with a time of 45.91. Their time set a new school record by two one-hundredths of a second. The team of Crawford, Katrina Turner, Mary Dickerson and Watts closed out the women's competition with a second-place finish in the 4X400-meter relay (3:42.16).

Egboba-Waye posted her second All-SLC honor with her time of 13.73 in the 100-meter hurdles. Egboba-Waye's regional qualifying time also set a new school record. The Ladyjacks added another second-place finish in the women's 400-meter dash. Freshman Mary Dickerson led a trio of Ladyjacks by recording a time of 55.09.

Only 24 hours after earning all-conference honors in the women's long jump, Sams returned to Fletcher Garner Track in the triple jump. Sams just missed her second all-conference honor finishing fifth in the event with a jump of 39-2.50. Freshman Danielle Burchett placed fourth in the women's 800 meters.

The Ladyjacks had many other top eight finishes throughout the meet, which contributed to the standings and both impressive awards. The domination shown by the squad throughout the indoor and outdoor championship meets was an example of their dedication to the sport outside of competition. The Ladyjacks know the award was a result of the many hours of practice and workouts that attributed to their success.

Men's and women's track and field coach Phil Olson was honored by the University when he received the Joe Richardson Track Award at the SFA Alumni Association Coaches Awards Luncheon in July. Under Olson's guidance, junior thrower Frednisha Marshall posted one of the best seasons in school history. During Olson's tenure, SFA has recorded 13 SLC titles in track and field cross country and had six All-Americans. He is a six-time SLC Coach of the Year honoree.

CHIEF CADDO

Back where he belongs

In 1960 Stephen F. Austin and Northwestern State in Nachitoches, La., agreed that whichever school lost the next season's football game would send the trunk of a tree cut from their campus to the winning school, to be carved into a statue. Northwestern State won the match up and created 7'6", 320-pound Chief Caddo from a 2,000-pound black gum log. The trophy was named for a Caddo Indian leader whose tribe settled the areas where both schools are located, according to legend. Each year, this particular rivalry game fires up the Purple Haze because the honor of hosting the coveted prize is at stake.

"This game is very important to both schools because of the rivalry. We want to bring Chief Caddo back to Nacogdoches," head coach J.C. Harper said before the game. This season, the Jacks took a win over the NSU Demons in the battle for the Chief, solidifying SFA's playoff position and a share of the Southland Conference title. SFA and McNeese State were the 2009 SLC co-conference champions. Currently, Chief Caddo comfortably resides in the Lumberjack fieldhouse, in the company of many dedicated SFA athletes and coaches.

Starting quarterback Jeremy Moses, Baytown junior, completed 34 of 47 passes for 333 yards and two touchdowns to become the school's career leader in passing yards (8,767). Receiver Duane Brooks, Irving senior, also set a new SFA single-game record with 15 receptions.

The Demons took the field strong in the first with a 3-yard rush into the end zone to put Northwestern ahead 7-0. SFA was quick to close the scoring gap with a field goal by Evan Engwall, Derby, Kan., freshman, to put the Jacks 4 points behind the Demons with 6:25 on the clock. The Jacks took the lead 10-7 with 2:37 left in the quarter with a 31-yard touchdown pass to Gralyn Crawford, Palestine freshman.

The Demons tied the game with a field goal in their first drive of the second quarter until the Jacks jumped back out in front with a 33-yard field goal by Engwall with 11:51 in the third. Moses completed the last touchdown pass of the game to Cordell Roberson, Jefferson freshman, for 57-yards in the fourth to win the game 19-10 and earn the right to bring the 7-foot-6, 320-pound Chief Caddo trophy back to SFA.

Romonte Hampton, Tyler freshman, led the Jacks' rushing efforts with 55-yards while Vincent Pervis, Texas City senior, totaled in at 54. Roberson led SFA in receiving yards with a total of 128 and one touchdown. Crawford also recorded a touchdown for the Jacks while totaling in at 71-yards.

Devin Ducote, Baton Rouge sophomore, led the Jacks' defense with 14 total tackles, eight being solo stops, while Cory Barlow, Friendswood senior, recorded 10 tackles, eight also being solos.

"You have to take your hat off to Northwestern State," said Harper after the game. "Coach Peveto had his kids ready to play."

New Beginnings

One of two new varsity sports beginning at SFA this season, the Ladyjack Golf team began its inaugural season with the Central Oklahoma Bronco Classic on Oct. 5 in Edmond, Okla. They finished 12th out of 18 teams. Originally, the Ladyjacks were scheduled to play their first tournament in Dallas, but the event was cancelled due to bad weather.

The Ladyjacks' youthful roster consists of five athletes, including four freshmen: Erin Daurity, Allison Flake, Chelsea Simmons and Wallis Spears, while the lone junior is Noelle Willcoxon. Previously, Willcoxon played at Lon Morris College and McLennan Community College where she earned Junior College All-America honors and was a two-time Academic All-American. After finishing the fall season in 6th at the Cowgirl Fall Invitational, the team was back in action Feb. 14 when they traveled to compete in the Kosati Pines Collegiate Classic. They continued fighting fast greens, troublesome bunkers and lateral water hazards for the rest of the season until the Southland Conference Championships in Huntsville in April.

Also experiencing SFA for the first time is Stefanie Maynard-Gray who was named assistant golf coach for the University. As one of the top female golfers in Texas-Pan American history, Maynard-Gray holds many honors including being a 2008 semi-finalist in the Texas Women's State Amateur and winning the Austin-San Antonio Tour Championship. She is also a two-time National Championship qualifier in the Golf Channel Amateur Tour and two-time Bronc Intercollegiate Golf Tournament winner.

ZUMBA!

Ditch the workout, join the party

The newest class at the Rec Center isn't just a workout—it's an experience. Zumba class is all about putting Latin-rhythms and heart pumping dance moves together to create an exciting one-hour workout. The fitness routine combines salsa, cha cha, samba, tango, merengue, a hint of flamenco, hip-hop, calypso and belly dancing designed to tone and sculpt the body. It's less like a workout and more like a party, except at this party you can have fun while not having to worry about portion control with the chips and dip.

The class all started in the mid-'90s in Colombia when fitness trainer "Beto" Perez realized he had forgotten music for his aerobics class. He quickly grabbed whatever tapes he had in his backpack, which were the traditional Latin salsa music he had listened to all his life. It was hard to merge the two ideas and switch people's traditional opinions about aerobics class. However, the concept of Latin-inspired dance-fitness did catch on, and after Beto conquered the challenge in his native country, he brought Zumba to the United States in 1999. In 2001 he met two young entrepreneurs and the trademark Zumba® was introduced to fitness enthusiasts everywhere.

Today, at SFA, Zumba is taught by Lily Claborn. Lily has been employed at the Rec Center for 3 years but starting teaching Zumba in July. Previously, she taught cycling in June but convinced her supervisor to add Zumba to the class lineup after being introduced to it at a TexFit conference for group fitness instructors. Lily's insight was accurate. The class quickly fills up and is a mixture of laughter and some serious hip-popping for one quick hour of physical conditioning that does not feel like exercise.

INTRAMURALS

Life goes on after high school sports

For many college freshman, the void left by high school athletics drains their minds and leaves them feeling empty. Luckily, SFA has a great intramural program to allow students to stay involved in sports. The program offers traditional team sports like soccer, flag football, volleyball, basketball and softball; but it also offers events like flickerball, sports trivia bowl, three-on-three basketball and inner tube water polo. Single-day events include punt/pass/kick competitions, X Box tournaments and Texas Hold'em.

Teams can be all-male, all-female or co-ed in most leagues. Junior Nicole Patrick said, "My same flag football team has been playing together since freshman year. It's always exciting getting the girls back together. Becoming intramural flag football champs our sophomore year was a highlight for all of us." All teams advance to the playoffs as long as they meet the sportsmanship requirements in the regular season, and they get a chance to be the tournament champions. Serious teams all have the goal of gaining the coveted trophy t-shirt given out to championship winning teams.

The Intramural Programs office also offers employment opportunites for students, giving them a chance to make new friends, gain self-esteem, display sportsmanship and develop self-discipline. Officiating clinics at the beginning of each season allow students to govern their peers on the field. Students interested in earning some extra money go through clinics that teach the fundamentals and rules of the game. These individuals are responsible for enforcing fairness and keeping things under control during the games.

The SFA Intramural Programs office takes great pride in offering members of the SFA community opportunity to continue their involvement in sports they grew up playing. Intramurals also entertains and offers students the chance to come out and watch their classmates exhibit their athletic skills.

SFA ALUMNI RUGBY GAME

Men mauling for memories

On Oct. 9-10, SFA Alumni Rugby players came together with the 2009-2010 squad to compete in a showdown of the decades at the 35th Stephen F. Austin Rugby Celebration. Many alumni make the pilgrimage to Nacogdoches every year to wear the beloved gold and maroon of the Alumni Club. The love of the game bonded the generations until they were out on the field. Then, it was every man for himself

After the game there were many functions planned for the players and their family and friends to enjoy. It is inspiring to see that one of SFA's sports clubs has a lasting impact on the players and others for years after they leave the university. Their love of the game and love of the university keep the traditions alive.

ROBBY BENNETT

Magician Robby Bennett performed at SFA during the fall 2009 semester. His tour "Where's The Rabbit?" stopped at different universities and cities across the country in order to reach a goal of raising $1 million for Texas Children's Hospital. Bennett feels strongly about the charity because he was a patient there when he was a child. The event was hosted by service sorority Gamma Kappa Omega.

Where's the rabbit?

A philanthropic magic show

Service sorority Gamma Kappa Omega hosted the opening show of the "Where's the Rabbit?" $1 Million Charity Drive Tour at SFA.

Magician Robby Bennett performed at the Baker Pattillo Student Center. All proceeds from the tour go directly to Texas Children's Hospital in Houston, where Bennett spent some of his childhood.

"I was sick for two years. After that it was discovered that I had a lot of undiagnosed food allergies," Bennett said. "I was only admitted to Children's twice, but I had a minimum of three doctor appointments a week."

At the age of 5, Bennett received a magic kit that he used later to occupy his time when he was sick. Bennett taught himself magic tricks from books while at home, and upon returning to school, he began performing for friends. "I was introverted during that time," Bennett said. "When you are sick, you get a inferiority complex because you can't do everything everybody else can. It gave me a way to make up for not being able to score touchdowns."

At the age of 12 Bennett turned professional and began doing corporate shows at the age of 13, performing for companies like General Electric. Bennett has performed in Las Vegas twice a year for the past two years.

The tour is scheduled to go to Waco, Huntsville, Beaumont and Los Angeles and has tentative dates for Vegas and Broadway. The tour is expected to run through August of 2010 and has tentative dates internationally.

The name "Where's the Rabbit?" stems from Bennett's take on magic. The show, as the young magician puts it, is not your typical "where's the rabbit at?" magic show.

Bennett spends a lot of time volunteering at Children's Hospital. The hospital sponsors a camp where Bennett volunteers as the magic teacher and doubles as a counselor. "I'm typically at the hospital once a week visiting the kids, making sure these kids don't feel the way that I did," Bennett said. "I don't want them to feel sick and inferior."

Bennett also spends time with the organization Best Buddies. The group is similar to the Big Brother organization, only it specifically helps the mentally challenged. The organization also partners with the Special Olympics.

"It seemed like a valuable thing to do with my time," Bennett said. "It is a lot of fun, and there are a lot of really good people."

"It's been great watching a lot of these kids grow up the past decade," Bennett said. "Seeing them overcome these diseases and illnesses has made all of this worthwhile."

Stacy Butler, Houston senior and vice president of Gamma Kappa Omega, has known Bennett since kindergarten.

"When Robby told me about the Charity Drive Tour, I was not the least bit surprised that he would develop a tour and give all the money to charity," Butler said. "That's just the kind of guy that Robby is."

Bennett anticipated that the proceeds raised from the SFA show would go to buy presents for the patients in December. "I am so excited for this show and to see how the rest of the tour goes. I really hope he reaches his goal of $1 million for charity," Butler said.

TURTLE TUG

The annual Delta Zeta Turtle Tug event took place in late October by the Ag Pond and Hall 20. The participants played tug-of-war over a pool of green Jell-O, and all of the proceeds from the event went to Delta Zeta's national philanthropy, a camp called The Painted Turtle.

The camp is an innovative medical specialty camp and family care center for children who have chronic and life-threatening illnesses.

"Turtle Tug is a fundraiser that is done throughout the country to raise money to send to the camp," Lindsay Hamilton, The Woodlands sophomore, said. "All of the campers and their families are able to attend free of charge."

To help spread publicity about the event, Hamilton went around to the Greek community and other organizations on campus to spread the word. "We hoped for a big turnout this year, and lots of people signed up," Hamilton said.

The event was an all-campus event open to students who can get a team of five together to participate. The cost was $45 per team, which included food and a T-shirt for everyone on each team. Members of Delta Zeta donated boxes of green Jell-O to the event.

STEPS

Chanting, confidence and crowd

There is only one word that can describe the Fall 2009 "Steps" ceremony this year: astonishing. Over 106 jumpers leaped off the steps of the Austin Building and into a crowd of cheering, high spirited Greeks. David Masrhall, IFC director of recruitment, said, "It was a lot of fun. The end of rush week is always an exciting time. Steps has a certain energy that makes it exciting for everyone. It's also one of the few times during the semester when all of the Greek chapters are in the same place, at the same time."

Deciding which fraternity to join can be a very tough decision. It is an assessment of great importance. It is a pledge of loyalty, an enduring commitment, a fellowship of valor, in broader terms, it is a BIG DEAL. According to Derrest Williams, president of Alpha Tau Omega, "It is your first official moment of brotherhood."

Steps starts off with pledges being called out of the Austin Building one at a time. They then reveal which fraternity they would like to accept a bid from by ripping off their T-shirt and revealing to all the Greeks their new fraternity letters. As the pledges descend from the top of the stairs, they are welcomed by their new brothers, a symbolism of unity and celebration. "This year's Steps ceremony was the best I've ever seen. Last semester, there were no Steps. This semester, Steps was huge. The atmosphere was just phenomenal," continued Williams.

"It is your first official moment of brotherhood."

The President of IFC, Matthew Haneman, said, "This year was the first year we decided to do Steps the first week of school. We wanted to keep formal rush as dry as possible for various safety precautions. "Despite the changes, it was wonderful. Our retention was up, and people had a very good time. The overall formal rush this year went the smoothest I've ever seen."

BID DAY

Welcoming in the new members

Sorority recruitment and Bid Day were held on Sept. 18, 19 and 20. Zeta Tau Alpha, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Chi Omega, and Delta Zeta are the five Panhellenic sororities at SFA that participate in Bid Day activities every year.

According to Pat Spence, Chi Omega adviser, prospective new members visit every house on the first day of recruitment and choose which houses they like best. "The prospective members rank the houses they like best, and those choices are matched with invitations the houses send back to the girls," Spence said.

On the second day of recruitment the prospective new members visit four of the five houses, and on the third day the girls return to their top two house choices before discovering which sorority they will finally join.

On Bid Day, all the prospective new members gathere in the student center to open their bid cards and find out where their new homes will be. As each new member walks to the front of the stage, she announces her choice, and the girl runs into her new sister's arms.

"It's a fun, high energy kind of event," Spence said. "There is a lot of excitement, and all the girls chant and sing. It's a wonderful way for new members to begin their Greek life experience."

For God and the ladies

The KA and AXO float won first place on Saturday Oct. 24, keeping the ongoing record for the KA fraternity. This year, the Kappa Alpha Order asked Alpha Chi Omega to team up with them for the annual SFA Homecoming parade that goes through downtown Nacogdoches. The theme of the parade was "It's bigger and better in Texas." To go along with the theme, KA and AXO built a Homecoming float that featured the Alamo with a second floor, where AXO members Amee Bally and Ellie Gary stood with KA members. Along with an oil rig on the left side of the float, oil workers and business on the right, a space shuttle was constructed, which had AXO's dressed as astronauts. Each year the floats are judged as they drive through downtown.

Lumberjack Cultural Association is one of the newest organizations on campus and within the Multicultural Center. It's mission is aimed toward educating the campus and community through cultural events that entertain and educate the campus and the Nacogdoches community. One of our biggest events, known as the Tunnel of Oppression, is an interactive museum, which spotlights different types of oppression through interactive skits and programming. This year's tunnel focused on issues within the college campus as well as global issues. The organization also teamed up with organizations such as the Multicultural Center, departments around campus and organizations within Student Life such as Amnesty International. The collaborative efforts of all involved helped spotlight incidents of oppression and injustice.

Currently ranked as the national championship in small Coed Division 1, the SFA Small Coed Squad has established itself as one of the trend-setting college cheer teams in the country. This team is not only expected to perform and compete at the highest level of perfection and accelerate school spirit on the SFA campus, they also have to raise funds to help offset the costs of being a member.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The voice of the student body at SFA

2009—2010 SGA Senators and Officers.

2009—2010 SGA Supreme Court

Within the Student Government Association (SGA), every member works hard to ensure that students are represented in every phase of their experience at SFA. The projects and bills that are passed in our meetings are important stepping stones to real change in the lives of SFA students. For over 70 years, SGA has contributed to the rich, independent tradition of the Lumberjack student.

The Student Government Association strives to be the student voice at SFA by serving as a sounding board to students and introducing legislation on their behalf. While the SGA does not pass legislation that is binding to university policy, it does posess significant influence amongst the university's administration. Bills passed in the last five years have addressed issues dealing with campus lighting, campus safety and the building of the SFA Student Recreation Center and University Center.

The Student Government is a model government and to that extent is fashioned in a traditional government model. The SGA has three primary branches: the Legislative, the Executive and the Judicial. Each branch serves a vital function to the overall health of the organization. SGA students travel to Austin and meet with state representatives and senators to learn more about the political process in Texas.

The Legislative Branch is made up of the Student Senate and facilitates the writing and passing of campuswide initiatives in the form of referendums and bills. The senate is made up of students that have been elected by their peers and represent their respective colleges and classes.

The Executive Branch is made up of the Office of President and Vice-President and serves as the official voice of the student body. The executives make reports on behalf of the student body to the Board of Regents, design leadership opportunities for fellow SGA students and administer the SGA budget.

The Judicial Branch is the Supreme Court and presides over the student traffic court that hears traffic violation cases. They also serve as a presiding body to interpret the SGA Constitution in cases of organization conflict. In some cases the Supreme Court is used to rule in student issues that are not associated with the SGA.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

Building traditions

Alpha Phi Omega is a national co-ed service fraternity founded in 1925 by Frank Reed Horton at Lafayette College in Easton, Pennsylvania. APO participates in a wide variety of service events on the Stephen F. Austin State University campus and in the Nacogdoches community.

The annual Homecoming Bonfire is a 48-year-old tradition that keeps on burning. Every year the Nu Sigma Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega builds the SFA bonfire. They dedicate countless hours and endure sleepless nights, not only building but also protecting one of SFA's most celebrated traditions.

The fraternity's colors are royal blue and old glory gold. It's motto is, "Be a Leader, Be a Friend, Be of Service." Alpha Phi Omega upholds three cardinal principles: leadership, friendship and service. It is on these three principles that Alpha Phi Omega was based.

MAKING SFA GREENER

Students from various organizations on campus came together for the Society of American Foresters (SAF) to plant trees in the Vista Woods. This event qualified Stephen F. Austin to become certified as a Tree Campus USA University. SAF also provided educational opportunities and a chance to plant your own tree on campus. All faculty, staff, students and community volunteers were welcome to participate in this monumental event for the University. Philosophies of the SAF include leaving a legacy, being environmentally conscious, getting involved, volunteering, giving life and making a difference.

The SFA Lumberjack Skate Team performed for the Lumberjack Alley right before the homecoming game on October 2009. David Chavez, and other SFA students, skated while students cheered in admiration. Back and forth they went with their expert skillz. In honor of Tony Hawk they skated as they prepared some of the most awesome stunts this campus has ever seen. The rest of the day student skaters signed autographs and took pictures with newly found fans screaming for joy. They have never seen anything like this before presented in such an overwhelmingly enthusiastic light. Once they finish the competition, they prepare for the game where they hope to have a chance to win the homecoming competition for best costume.

THE INTERNATIONAL STUDENT

The International Student Association at SFA hosted the third annual Fashions of the World event in order to share different cultures and celebrate diversity.

According to Giovanny Barberis, Quito, Ecuador senior, the idea for the fashion show came about in the fall of 2007, when he and a group of international students wanted to find a unique way of displaying world culture. "We all agreed that we wanted to share our culture through something other than food, so we thought traditional outfits was a great way of doing it," Barberis said.

All of the clothes in the show were provided by international students, as well as the Muslim Student Association. "Many of the students bring the outfits with them when they first come to SFA, as a way of remaining close to their country and traditions," Barberis explained. "Also, some have their outfits mailed to them from home for the show." There were over 20 countries from all over the globe represented in the show, ranging from Vietnam to Spain.

Barberis and the other students involved began preparing early in the semester for the show. After the ideas and concepts for the show were discussed, students who were interested in modeling were tracked down. "After our team was set up we began looking for outfits and models," Barberis said. "Although most people model their own outfits, some required additional models.

"After this we had an open rehearsal where we teach them basic modeling and start putting the order for the show together," he said.

Countries represented in the show included China, Korea, Vietnam, Indonesia, India, England, France, Norway, Spain, Nigeria, Senegal, Liberia, Kenya, Cameroon, Antigua, Mexico, Ecuador and the United States.

Phi Psi raises breast cancer awareness in a unique way

Members of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity went without food for 48 hours one weekend in October to show their awareness of and support for survivors of breast cancer.

Phi Psi staged its sixth annual Phi Psi Phast for breast cancer in the grassy area between the Student Center and Kerr and Griffith halls.

Fraternity members pledged to go 48 hours without eating and only drank water or other non-filling beverages to raise awareness of breast cancer and to support survivors of the disease.

"For us, these 48 hours are nothing compared to what people have to go through after being diagnosed with breast cancer or any other type of cancer, according to Mark Rhoudes, Phi Psi vice president and Aquilla junior. "We don't want to just raise money with this event, we want the local and campus communities, the students and faculty of SFA to be aware that even a small number of dedicated people can make a difference."

Last year's event raised approximately $1,700, and this year the goal was $2,500. Donations from individuals and companies are a large part of the success of the Phast.

A popular feature of the event is the sale of T-shirts. This year's shirts were pink with the breast cancer ribbon on the front and the slogan "Real men wear pink for the women in their lives" on the back.

Rhoudes said the Phast has become the fraternity's most significant event since it began in 2003 as a philanthropic pledge class fund raising effort.

"We believe it shows that we are not just another fraternity," he said. "We are a group of gentlemen who are looking to help make a difference."

Snow in East Texas

The uncharacteristic East Texas snowfall began after dark on Thursday, February 11 continuing throughout the night. SFA students woke Friday to an estimated four inches of snow and the welcome announcement that the University had cancelled classes and closed offices for the day. Cafeterias and the Student Rec Center maintained regular hours.

Some students chose to stay warm indoors, but many could not resist the opportunity to bundle up and enjoy the fluffy white stuff. Snowmen and women, sprang up across campus, and many students took to the slopes at Homer Bryce Stadium, sliding down the hills toward the track on makeshift sleds ranging from trash bags and laundry baskets to pizza boxes, trash can lids and even an inflatable kayak.By Monday morning, warming temperatures melted most of the snow and the University resumed business and classes as usual.

CONSTRUCTION AREA
KEEP OUT

The final days of Garner

After several weeks of clearing the surrounding area to demolish the 13-story Garner Apartments building, workers began to empty the interior during the first week of February. Beds, desks and parts of walls were placed in suspended dumpsters then deposited into piles on the ground. Throughout the semester Garner was demolished floor by floor by an 8,000 pound wrecking ball. In exchange for Garner, there will be a parking garage, freshman dorm and freshman success center.

THE

The Stone Fort tells its story of Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College with pictures.

"Out of the debris that is so easily made by nearly one hundred persons working with two hundred pages of annual material, this Stone Fort of 1939 has emerged."
- Wilma Watkins

Turning a page into a memory

It is rare to find a connection between the 2010 edition of the Stone Fort yearbook and the 1939 edition. This connection has lead to an inviting friendship nourished by insightful stories shared through mailed letters, phone calls and e-mails. Wilma Fuller, editor of the 1939 Stone Fort Yearbook, and I were first introduced when I was awarded the Alumni Association Scholarship that Wilma and her husband, James, endowed: The James C. Fuller Scholarship for communication students. After recognizing the similarities between us, my interest was sparked. I wanted to know more about her memories of SFA and her time spent as the second female yearbook editor of the Stone Fort.

During the hard times of the depression, Wilma and her husband managed to embrace their goals in order to achieve them. As self starters, skipping out on school or work was not an option. Financing his own education, James became a leader at SFA as the editor of The Pine Log newspaper. With Wilma by his side, they worked for the Daily Sentinel after graduating in 1939.

Wilma shared many recollections of her experience as yearbook editor and the staff responsibilities. In 1939, the yearbook staff was composed entirely of volunteers. Wilma assigned specific duties and responsibilities to the 45 staff members who were willing to contribute their time and work.

As there was no yearbook office space available, work was done in an empty classroom or in the small Press Club office with, according to Wilma, scissors and rubber cement. After completing each section, it was shipped off to the Steck Co. The staff then received hard copies of each section to check before final publication.

The process of completing a yearbook has changed dramatically with technology playing a major role in design and production. Today, the Stone Fort staff shares an office with The Pine Log staff in the Baker Pattillo Student Center. The book is digitally designed using Adobe Creative Suite 3, and pages and proofs are submitted electronically.

By looking at past yearbooks, I was able to understand the influences that students at that time had on the material that was published. Although it is not timely when considering the 2010 Stone Fort, it was important to me to see what was most important that year and what that year represented. As editor of the 2009-2010 yearbook, it has been my responsibility to create a publication based on the current generation and ideas that best represent the student body and the University.

Connecting with Wilma Fuller has helped me understand the importance of team work and the true meaning of hard work. The Fullers have become my inspiration; Wilma is now my pen pal. Her storytelling has changed my perspective on creating a publication and has shown me how to be my own self-starter.

The James C. Fuller Scholarship, started as a $10,000 contribution, has helped 25 students with the financial burden of a college education. I am a proud recipient of this scholarship and am thankful for Wilma and James Fuller's' inspiration and contributions to SFA.

Laying it out

This yearbook isn't just a heavy book. This book is a snapshot of SFA during the fall 2009 and spring 2010 semesters. It's a 352-page annual that covers all students, faculty, sports, academics, activities, organizations all across campus and the community. To understand how it was produced, it is important to note the time and effort that went into production of the book. Among the many responsibilities editors juggle, they must understand and gather all important information about clubs, organizations, sports teams, student life activities and faculty including stories, photos, statistics and quotes. Each editor carefully designed their individual sections while paying close attention to accurately displaying the true meaning of that subject. The goal for this year was to create a book that specifically defined and tuned into the modern generation of SFA.

As editor in chief, I would like to thank my section editors Jamie, Rachel, Nicole, June and Josh for their wonderful design efforts, hard work and patience. I would also like to thank Pat Spence, student publications director, and Katie Blevins, student publications coordinator, for their daily guidance and support throughout the year. Each one of you made this edition of the Stone Fort possible. You made this annual stand out. I am proud to have been a representative for the Stone Fort Yearbook for the past three years, where I learned more about SFA and myself than I would have anywhere else.

Overall, I hope this yearbook proves to be a prime example of what 2009-2010 was for each student and faculty member. I hope it is a book that not only weighs heavily in your memories but lays out how you picture your experiences as a Lumberjack during this time.
